We own a Victorian house built in 1880 that was completely uninsulated. After speaking with several contractors we settled on 411 Energy Services and couldn't be happier that we did. Ray is a professional who takes this work seriously and believes in what he is doing. He is incredibly knowledgeable about all the various insulating products available and how/where they should be applied. The 411 Energy crew did everything they could to accommodate our schedule, putting in long days while taking care to do the job as efficiently and neatly as possible. The house was full of nooks, crannies and pockets that needed to be insulated and 411 Energy cut no corners in getting the job done right. The difference in the comfort level of our home is nothing less than dramatic. We've already turned the thermostat down several degrees and the boiler does not come on nearly as often. We had high expectations for this project and 411 Energy met them all.
